

Abstract of the Disclosure

A stapler involves a driver unit having a driver for punching out a staple toward sheets, a clincher unit having a clincher base with a clincher to clinch leg portion of the staple passing through the sheets, the driver unit being vertically separated from the clincher unit, wherein the clincher base is vertically reciprocally disposed, and the sheets inserted between the clincher base and the driver unit is clamped between the clincher base and the driver unit when the clincher base is reciprocated, the stapler further comprising a first driving motor provided for the driver unit to operate the driver and a second driving motor provided for the clincher unit to reciprocate the clincher base and operating the clincher.